

Activity Diagram

Explanation

- The first step in the activity diagram is to launch the game or to load the game.

- When the user starts the game, he will be given the options to choose the difficulty level of the game.
- Once the user selects the difficulty level, the actual game starts.
- When user is playing the game, he has the option to quit the game in between.
- If the user fails to complete the level, the game will be terminated.
- If he finishes the game successfully, he has the option to play the game at next difficulty level or he can exit/quit the game.